

Blackberry Meadows Farm

Website   About Us   Who's on the farm?   Garden Share   Weddings/Events   Contact Us

September 15, 2014

Dear Jennifer,

Whatever happened to Summer?
Suddenly it's cold out! We've gotten out our winter wool blankets, gathered our firewood, swept the chimney, and are bracing for another cold one.

That said, it feels like our tomatoes have just finally started to ripen and we really haven't maximized our tomato harvest. We planted about 1500 plants or so - and due to a cold late Spring and inclimate summer - our nightshades really held back. They prefer to ripen in the evenings in 70+ degree temps, which we've hardly had this year. From our perspective, Climate Change is a real thing!

That said, if we had known that this would be a cool-wet year - we might have tried to grow some of the spring and fall crops straight through - spinach, lettuces, kales, and more greens!

Each year is unpredictable. We grow

In This Issue

- Weekly Menu
- Recipe Ideas
- Food Community
- Barn Items
- Farm Updates

Quick Links

- www.blackberrymeadows.com
- www.frankferd.com
- www.allegroearth.com
- www.natronabottlingcompany.com

Join Our Mailing List

Forward To A Friend

Like us on Facebook

Food Community:
Buy Fresh Buy Local/PASA

